Message from the Collection Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Researchers and academics are invited to share their thoughts and experiences in this Special Issue on the phenomenon of these tourism activities. The scope includes tourism policies and events with analytical approaches to tourism, specifically urban, rural, or spatial.

Our aim is for scientific findings to guide us in identifying solutions to urgent tourism and regional issues. Some of the topics of interest include location theory and spatial economics, location modeling, transportation, migration analysis, land use and urban development, interindustry analysis, environmental and ecological analysis, resource management, urban and regional policy analysis, geographical information systems, and spatial data analysis, as long as related to tourism activities.

We look forward to receiving articles on any topic related to tourism research and regional sciences. There are no strict thematic restrictions, and no scientific finding too small or too big to contribute to the evolving concepts and inferences on tourism research and regional sciences. Your ideas always matter.
