Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleague,

This special issue will look on theoretical and empirical analysis of recent urban dynamics, transitions and its impact on citizens health and wellbeing. Developing innovative approaches for urban sustainable development will be important to provide answers to the urban challenges identified before. Moreover, the publications will provide evaluations of urban problems and solutions in different parts of the world, which might be useful for more efficient public policies.

All themes addressing recent urban dynamics and experiences will be welcomed, namely those related to:

- Positive Energy Districts
- The 15-Minute City
- Circular Urban Economies
- Area-based initiatives for sustainable urban development
- Degrowth actions
- Cultural and digital projects for local development
