

Figure S1. Confocal microscopy using anti-Arl13b and anti- $\gamma$ -tubulin antibodies was performed in biopsied skin samples derived from five vitiligo patients with OFD1 downregulation. The number of ciliated cells was counted in two to three randomly selected high-power fields in each specimen (total 13).