

Figure S1. Cumulative enteral protein intake was associated with higher FA in the left posterior thalamic radiation. Significant voxels (red-yellow; color bar indicates p -value) are presented on top of the mean FA skeleton (green) and are viewed from a sagittal (left), coronal (middle), and axial (right) perspective.