The journal retracts the article (Environmental Impact of Peanut (Arachis hypogaea L.) Production under Different Levels of Nitrogen Fertilization. Agriculture 2018, 8, 104) [1], cited above.

The peer review process for this article was compromised. The identity of at least one reviewer was found to be false. This is a clear violation of journal policy.

The Editorial Office and Editorial Board take incidents of peer review interference very seriously. The article is therefore retracted.

This retraction was approved by the Editor in Chief of the journal, Prof. Dr. Les Copeland, and the Associate Editors, Prof. Dr. Bin Gao and Prof. Dr. Urs Feller.

The authors did not agree to this retraction.
