

Figure S3. Biosynthesis pathways explain why the cell wall levels of mannans and extensins could be interdependent. GDP-D-mannose is a common biosynthetic precursor for mannans and ascorbate. Ascorbate is an essential cofactor of prolyl hydroxylase enzymes that posttranslationally hydroxylate proline residues of cell wall structural glycoproteins to yield hydroxyproline residues.