

Dear Colleagues,

Ms. Yanling Wu (Fudan University, Shanghai) and Mr. Mark Bailey (Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai, New York) are the recipients of the 2017 Antibodies Travel Award for excellence in antibody research by graduate students or postdoctoral fellows; the Award will be used to participate in an antibody related conference. Both students have already coauthored several excellent articles and have conducted outstanding research in the antibody field. They plan to attend an antibody engineering and therapeutic meeting, and a vaccine meeting, respectively.

2017 TRAVEL AWARD WINNERS

I congratulate the recipients of this year's Award and wish them every success in their research.

I would like to thank the Selection Committee members Dr. Nathalie Scholler and Dr. R. James Christie for their valuable time in evaluating the candidates.
