Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue intends to offer an updated overview of what is known already and what is currently being investigated in this new field of combined patient/microbiota-targeting treatments. It aims to do so by evaluating, for instance, how these two different therapeutic approaches may synergize to achieve an improvement in the disease, or how patient microbiota should be considered a new factor in tailoring patient pharmacological treatment from a precision medicine perspective. Both review papers and original articles also including animal or in vitro studies, clinical trials, observational studies and case reports are welcome.

Biomedicines (ISSN 2227-9059) is an open access journal devoted to all aspects of research on human health and disease, the discovery and characterization of new therapeutic targets, therapeutic strategies, and research of naturally driven biomedicines, pharmaceuticals, and biopharmaceutical products. Topics include pathogenesis mechanisms of diseases, translational medical research, biomaterial in biomedical research, natural bioactive molecules, biologics, vaccines, gene therapies, cell-based therapies, targeted specific antibodies, recombinant therapeutic proteins, nanobiotechnology driven products, targeted therapy, bioimaging, biosensors, biomarkers, and biosimilars. The journal is open for publication of studies conducted at the basic science and preclinical research levels. We invite you to consider submitting your work to Biomedicines, be it original research, review articles, or developing Special Issues of current key topics.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges \(APC\) paid by authors or their institutions.
