Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Primary and metastatic tumors of the spine are demanding lesions in terms of their diagnosis and management because they are often asymptomatic or have non-specific characteristics. Their delayed diagnosis is not very unusual, and sometimes, spinal instability or neurological compromise may be the presenting symptom. The optimal diagnosis and treatment of spine tumors require a multidisciplinary approach and thorough knowledge of both spinal surgery and musculoskeletal oncology. This Special Issue highlights the relevance of spinal tumors, particularly their diagnostic parameters and innovative diagnostic approaches.
