Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

In recent decades, Africa has been undergoing profound and rapid change, socially, economically, and environmentally, due to globalization, a process in which national and regional economies, societies, and cultures become increasingly interconnected through a global network of trade, communication, immigration, and transportation (Kull et al., 2007; Ibrahim, 2013). Real concern exists on the continent, and worldwide, about the effects on biodiversity of a rising and growing Africa, and of the implications of globalization on ecosystems and the wellbeing of Africans. While globalization has enabled new opportunities to expand and improve conservation efforts, it is often accompanied by costs and consequences that need to be anticipated and managed.

We invite conservation scientists and practitioners to submit manuscripts that explicitly address the globalization-biodiversity conservation interlinkages in their study systems in Africa.

Diversity (ISSN 1424-2818) is a scholarly journal that covers all areas of diversity research. Our distinguished editorial board and refereeing process ensures the highest degree of scientific rigor for publishing. Original research articles and timely reviews are released online, with unlimited free access.

We invite papers and reviews on multidisciplinary topics of diversity that bridge organismic diversity (systematics, biodiversity, phylogeny, population genetics, and evolution) and molecular diversity (phytochemistry and biophysics).

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubAg, GEOBASE, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Biodiversity Conservation) / CiteScore - Q2 (Agricultural and Biological Sciences (miscellaneous))
