

genealogy

Dear colleagues,

On behalf of the Evaluation Committee, we are pleased to announce the winner of the 2019 Genealogy Travel Award, which has been granted to the following applicant:

Margo Turnbull, a Post-Doctoral fellow from Hong Kong Polytechnic University, will attend the Professional Practice, Education and Learning (ProPEL) Conference, December 9–11, 2019, in Sydney, Australia, to present her following paper: “Exploring Spaces and Places of Care: Using Foucault to Investigate Localisation in Primary Health Care”.

2019 GENEALOGY TRAVEL AWARD

WINNER

With such high-quality applications for the award, this was a difficult decision, and we would like to thank all applicants for submitting their diverse and fascinating range of research topics. We congratulate the winner for her accomplishments.

Dr. Sherry Rankins-Robertson

Editor-in-Chief

Dr. Duane Roen

Editor-in-Chief

Genealogy provides a venue for cutting-edge contributions to the interdisciplinary field of genealogy studies; it encourages submissions that examine genealogies of family lineage, study the construction of genealogical narratives, or use genealogical methods to examine other historical processes, such as migration histories, social identities, and social institutions.

Please click here for more information on Genealogy:

<https://www.mdpi.com/journal/genealogy>