Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue of Genealogy invites authors to submit essays on the topic of “Africana Families and Kinship Formations in the Diaspora”. We invite scholars in Africana/Black studies as well as other closely related fields to consider the manifestations of Africana family life in the context of diasporization. Some potential areas of focus the following areas, although other submissions are welcomed:

- Family and migration;
- Spirituality and family health;
- The influence of cultural dynamics on family relationships;
- Rites and rituals;
- Parenting styles and priorities in the context of political climate;
- Resilience in Africana families;
- Education and schooling choices;
- Identity and racial socialization;
- Racial, national, and transnational identity/ies;
- Pan-African politics and the family;
- Sexual, gendered relations;
- Queer kinship;
- Mental health;
- Cultural transformation and continuity.

Message from the Editorial Board

Genealogy is a scholarly journal that provides a venue for academic, cutting-edge contributions to the interdisciplinary field of genealogy studies. We welcome contributions that examine genealogies of family lineage, use genealogical considerations and methods in examining other historical processes (including migration histories, personal, social, and national identities, and social institutions) or study the construction of genealogical narratives. The journal is also interested in biographical studies and their contribution to the understanding of broader social and historical phenomena.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, ESCI (Web of Science), and many other databases.

Rapid Publication: manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 24.9 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 4.9 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2023).
