

healthcare

an Open Access Journal by MDPI

Prevention and Management of Oral Diseases among Children

Guest Editors:

Dr. Tammy Duangthip

Division of Pediatric Dentistry,
College of Dentistry, The Ohio
State University, Columbus, OH
43210, USA

Dr. Divesh Sardana

Division of Pediatric Dentistry,
Department of Developmental Sciences, University of Oklahoma
College of Dentistry, Oklahoma
City, OK 73117, USA

Dr. Phoebe Pui Ying Lam

Paediatric Dentistry, Faculty of Dentistry, The University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong 999077, China

Deadline for manuscript
submissions:

31 October 2024

Message from the Guest Editors

Good oral health is essential to maintaining overall health and wellbeing, particularly in children. Oral diseases, such as dental caries, periodontal diseases, malocclusion, and oral malignancies, can have severe and long-lasting impacts on a child's growth and development. Effective management of oral disease in children involves a multifaceted approach, including prevention, early detection, and treatment. Prevention is the key to avoiding these negative outcomes, and identifying effective prevention methods is crucial for improving the oral health and quality of life of future generations. Early detection and management of oral diseases efficiently minimises their progression and future complications.

We now invite you to contribute your expertise and insights to our upcoming publication focused on the "Prevention and Management of Oral Diseases among Children". As advocates for children's health, we believe in the power of knowledge to make a lasting impact. Your valuable contributions can help us to disseminate essential information, strategies, and research findings to empower parents, caregivers, and dental professionals in safeguarding the oral health of children.

mdpi.com/si/194697

Special Issue