Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

In this Special Issue, we invite authors to present new results, ideas and approaches on the "Epigenetics of Urological Cancers" with the aims of deepening the understanding of the pathogenesis, improving the diagnostics and augmenting the therapy of these malignancies. We would like to invite original research papers on pathogenetic mechanisms, as well as those with a translational perspective, aiming at bridging the gap between basic and clinical research for urological cancer epigenetics.

Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Prostate cancer
- Bladder cancer
- Renal cancer
- Epigenetics
- Epigenome
- DNA methylation
- Histone modifications
- Long non-coding RNA (nuclear)
- Epigenetic biomarkers
- Epigenetic drugs

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.
