Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

Underwater image processing is one of the key technologies driving advancements in fields such as marine biology, oceanography, underwater exploration, and more. In recent years, deep learning technologies have emerged as a game-changer in addressing these challenges and improving underwater image quality. These technologies provide new opportunities and insights, enhancing their applicability and reliability in real-world scenarios. This Special Issue aims to bring together leading researchers and practitioners from around the world to showcase their latest research findings and future directions in this dynamic field.

Topics of interest include but are not limited to, the following: Underwater image enhancement and restoration; Underwater image denoising; Underwater object detection and classification; Underwater object tracking; Underwater object recognition; Underwater scene understanding; Underwater image depth estimation; Underwater 3D modeling; Underwater image synthesis and generation; Generative AI for underwater image processing; Underwater image quality assessment methods, etc.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The Journal of Marine Science and Engineering (JMSE; ISSN 2077-1312) is an international peer-reviewed open access journal which provides an advanced forum for studies related to marine science and engineering. The journal aims to provide scholarly research on a range of topics, including ocean engineering, chemical oceanography, physical oceanography, marine biology and marine geosciences. We invite you to publish in our journal sharing your important research findings with the global ocean community.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed with Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), GeoRef, Inspec, AGRIS, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Engineering, Marine) / CiteScore - Q2 (Ocean Engineering)
