Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

To celebrate the successful launch of Journal of Nanotheranostics (JNT), we are devoting this Special Issue of JNT to publishing a diverse selection of exclusive papers from the Editorial Board Members (EBMs). This Issue is intended to bring together expert opinion pieces, educational and critical reviews to put key research and regulatory topics in nanotheranostics into perspective and provide future direction for new investigators in order to push the field forward. In addition, this Special Issue of JNT will also consider innovative and original basic, translational and clinical research papers from the laboratories of our EBMs. All EBMs are invited to contribute, and all submissions will be rigorously peer reviewed.
