Message from the Guest Editor

The research focuses of this Special Issue mainly concern:

- The analysis of firm internationalization processes, with particular reference to the different types of internationalization;
- The analysis of the determinants of bilateral trade flows, in relation to the characteristics of the production systems of individual countries, the characteristics of legal and institutional systems, and the matrix of bilateral relations;
- The study of the interdependencies between trade and foreign direct investment (FDI) and their consequences on the GVCs.

This Special Issue intends to reach relevant actors involved in trade and investment policy design and implementation in the public sector and policymakers, as well as all stakeholders potentially interested in its results. Nevertheless, the target readership of the Special Issues is even broader, as it aims to provide a valuable tool in graduate teaching and for students with an interest in the firm's internationalization models and analyses.
