Dear Colleague,

Considering your expertise in the field of Old English, I would like to invite you to submit an article to the special issue of the Languages journal entitled Corpus-Based Linguistics of Old English.

Contributions are welcome that carry out linguistic analysis of Old English at the phonological, lexical, morphological, syntactic, semantic and pragmatic levels. Theoretically and typologically-oriented studies are also within the scope of the volume, but theoretical, comparative and descriptive approaches must be based on corpus analysis of Old English. The preferred corpora are the Dictionary of Old English Corpus and the York corpora of Old English (prose and poetry), or subsets of these. Diachronic analysis involving Old English should preferably be based on the Helsinki Corpus or the Penn Corpus of Historical English. Computational or NLP approaches are also welcome if their datasets include Old English.

We request that, prior to submitting a manuscript, interested authors initially submit a proposed title and an abstract of 400-600 words summarizing their intended contribution. Please send it to the guest editor (javier.martin@unirioja.es).
