Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue of Languages aims at showcasing new and original research on the diachrony and typology of Bantu languages in the broadest possible way. It welcomes historical-comparative and/or typological studies dealing with lexicon, phonology, morphology, syntax, and/or information structure in any subset of Bantu languages, including so-called ‘Wide Bantu’ languages from the Bantu homeland region in the border area of present-day Cameroon and Nigeria. Comparative studies engaging with first-hand data from lesser-known languages are particularly appreciated. The volume is published in English, but sufficiently innovative and well designed studies originally written in French or Portuguese can also be considered for inclusion.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Languages (ISSN 2226-471X) is now in its eighth year since its inception in 2015. It is an Open Access journal which seeks to stimulate debates on key issues in languages and linguistics. We welcome papers at the cutting edge of different fields, ranging from applied linguistics to descriptive and theoretical linguistics. Submissions may consist of research articles and critical reviews as well as proposals for Special Issues where multi-disciplinary approaches and different perspectives on current issues are explored. We invite you to consider Languages as a forum for sharing your work.
