Dear Colleague,

Applications are invited for the Nutrients Young Investigator of the Year Award 2018. Up to two awards are made annually to a young researcher who has made an outstanding contribution to our understanding of the impact of nutrition on human health.

The nominations and applications will be assessed by an Awards Committee chaired by the Editor-in-Chief of Nutrients Prof. Dr. Jon Buckley.

2018 YOUNG INVESTIGATOR AWARD

Selection Criteria:

1. Applicants must be no more than 35 years age as at 31 August 2018;
2. Applications (no more than four pages in length) will be assessed on the basis of:
 - publication history, including number and quality of publications and citations for articles relevant to human nutrition
 - evidence of translation of research findings into changes in policy or practice at the local, national and international level that impact on human nutrition
 - other contributions to the field of human nutrition research

Application Requirements:

Applications addressing the assessment criteria listed above must be submitted as a cover letter using the application template (img.mdpi.org/data/nutrients-young-investigator-award-application-template-2018-award-final-1.docx) and should be not more than four A4 pages, single-
