Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Over the last few years elearning in pharmacy has become much more common. there are e-portfolios, elearning modules at undergraduate and postgraduate level, and elearning 'just in time cpd' resources. staff have had to learn to work with material online to develop these new resources but also to teach online or learn to work with a whole new vocabulary of etivities, emoderation and etutors to name some of the new ways of working. have you been involved in developing any of the these resources, or others not mentioned? have you been involved in using these with students or staff? have you evaluated these or researched their use? we would love to hear from you for our special edition.
