Message from the Guest Editors

Our seas and oceans offer vast renewable energy resources and can contribute to decarbonizing the power system. Ocean energy technologies, such as wave, tidal and offshore wind converters, are still in an emerging phase, but have great potential to provide steady and predictable power output.

Exploring the great potential of the ocean and hydropower is exciting and meaningful; we are establishing this Special Issue to call for more attention to this scientific area and to strengthen communication between scholars. We welcome any theoretical, numerical and experimental studies, which address a range of topics related to the ocean and hydropower systems. We are also including offshore wind and photovoltaic systems as well.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. Sustainability publishes original research articles, review articles and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges \(APC\) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE and SSCI \(Web of Science\), GEOBASE, GeoRef, Inspec, AGRIS, RePEc, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Environmental Studies) / CiteScore - Q1 (Geography, Planning and Development)
