

Showcasing relationships between neighborhood design and Wellbeing Toronto indicators

SUSTAINABILITY

Richard R. Shaker, PhD

Department of Geography & Environmental Studies, Graduate Programs in Environmental Applied Science & Management, Graduate Program in Spatial Analysis, Ryerson University
Toronto, Ontario, Canada
GeoEco Design, Syracuse, NY, USA

Joseph Aversa, PhD

Department of Geography & Environmental Studies, Graduate Program in Spatial Analysis, Ryerson University Toronto, Ontario, Canada

Victoria Papp, MSc

MSc. Program in Environmental Applied Science & Management, Ryerson University Toronto, Ontario, Canada

Bryant M. Serre

Undergraduate Program in Environmental and Urban Sustainability, Department of Geography & Environmental Studies, Ryerson University Toronto, Ontario, Canada

Brian R. Mackay, MSA

Ph.D. Program in Environmental Applied Science & Management, Graduate Program in Spatial Analysis, Ryerson University Toronto, Ontario, Canada

Data S2: CSV file of non-transformed landscape class configuration COHESION, landscape diversity SHDI, and four normalized and transformed Wellbeing Toronto indicators database ( $n = 140$ )

Richard Ross Shaker
JOR 618A
Ryerson University
Toronto, Ontario, Canada
rshaker@ryerson.ca

Contents:

DataS2_TO_COHESION_SHDI_4Indicators_12Dec2019_n140.csv

Instructions:

The database created for this study can be used freely with citation.