Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

It is with great enthusiasm that we agree to lead this Special Issue on the topic of Biosecuring Animal Populations. This is indeed a timely topic, based on the domestic and transboundary challenges of pathogens such as African swine fever virus, porcine reproductive and respiratory syndrome virus, and highly pathogenic avian influenza virus. This Special Issue will strive to be multi-organismal, cross species, and global in nature. Topics will include reviews, new research on disease transmission and biosecurity, new advances in biosurveillance, the role of human behavior in biosecurity compliance, and data from the field, describing the efforts of veterinary practitioners and scientists to measure the impact of next-generation biosecurity interventions on the control of these significant diseases of herds and flocks.

Now is clearly the perfect time for a publication of this type!
