Message from the Guest Editors

The research topics may include (but are not limited to) the following: reproductive health; infertility; early embryo development and pregnancy; progress in molecular markers associated with fertility, gamete and embryo quality, and reproductive disorders as well as designing breeding strategies; assisted reproductive technologies such as cryopreservation, in vitro fertilization (IVF), intracytoplasmic sperm injection (ICSI), somatic cell nuclear transfer (SCNT), the micromanipulation of gametes and embryos, genetic analysis by embryo biopsies, embryo transfer, fertility preservation, artificial insemination, oocyte and embryo culture, genomic selection and manipulation, transgenesis, transcriptomics and epigenomics, embryo outgrowths and embryonic stem cells.

Original, high-quality contributions that are not yet published or under review by other journals are sought. We hope that this issue will provide novel insights into advancements in the field of livestock reproduction and technologies, as well in basic and applied reproduction science.
