

antibiotics

Dear Colleagues,

As the Chair of the Travel Awards Evaluation Committee, I am pleased to announce the winner of the 2019 Antibiotics Travel Awards.

The Evaluation Committee were very impressed with the high level of work presented, and after careful consideration, the Travel Awards have been granted to Mr. Damien Cabral, a Ph.D. student at Brown University, Providence, RI, USA, who is working on characterizing the functional response of the gut microbiome to antibiotic therapy.

2019 ANTIBIOTICS TRAVEL AWARDS

WINNER

The winner will receive 800 Swiss Francs to be used to attend and participate at any academic conference in 2019.

It is also our pleasure to announce that as part of the reward, Antibiotics will offer the Top 10 candidates the opportunity to publish a paper with the publication fees waived. We would like to thank all applicants for their participation and interest in our journal.

We also thank our Evaluation Committee members, Drs. Gary A. Strobel, Patrice Courvalin and William M. Shafer, for their comprehensive evaluation of the candidates.

Prof. Dr. Jeffrey Lipman
Chair of the Evaluation Committee