

Special Issue

Antioxidants in Radiation Protection, Radiobiology and Radiation Therapy

Message from the Guest Editors

The objective of this Special Issue of Antioxidants in radiological protection, radiobiology and radiotherapy aims to cover the latest advances in the use of antioxidants in the field of ionizing radiation; of particular interest is their application against nonionizing radiation in these same fields of action.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

It has been recognized in medical sciences that in order to prevent adverse effects of “oxidative stress” a balance exists between prooxidants and antioxidants in living systems. Imbalances are found in a variety of diseases and chronic health situations. Our journal Antioxidants serves as an authoritative source of information on current topics of research in the area of oxidative stress and antioxidant defense systems. The future is bright for antioxidant research and since 2012, Antioxidants has become a key forum for researchers to bring their findings to the forefront.
