Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue has the scope to assemble a collection of papers providing interpretations in a number of areas. These areas may include, but are not limited to:

- The physicochemical characterization of aquatic environment;
- The assessment of the impact of contamination in aquatic ecosystems;
- Estuarine pollution and influence on seawater contamination;
- New analytical methods and instrumental techniques for pollutants determination;
- Case studies of environmental monitoring;
- The seasonal evolution of contaminants in aquatic environments;
- The effects of climate changes on contaminants' distribution in aquatic environments;
- Pollutants in sediments and marine organisms;
- Modelling studies helping to assess global pollutants distribution in marine environment as well as oceanic transport;
- The evaluation of the potential role of marine organisms as bioindicators of spatial temporal trends of pollutants in coastal and marine areas.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

As the world of science becomes ever more specialized, researchers may lose themselves in the deep forest of the ever increasing number of subfields being created. This open access journal Applied Sciences has been started to link these subfields, so researchers can cut through the forest and see the surrounding, or quite distant fields and subfields to help develop his/her own research even further with the aid of this multi-dimensional network.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Inspec, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Engineering, Multidisciplinary) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Engineering)
