Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue looks for papers that address sustainable built environments and human well-being. Built environment has significant impacts on human health and well-being. Facing climate change, urbanisation and urban heat island effect, there is an urgent need to strive for sustainable development with eco-friendly and resource-efficient practices.

Topics of interest for publication include, but are not limited to:

- sustainable built environments and infrastructure
- sustainable design
- human health, well-being and quality of life
- urban heat island mitigation
- climate change
- regenerative design
- energy efficiency and low carbon footprint
- zero waste and zero carbon emission
- green and blue infrastructure, green roofs and walls
- indoor environmental quality and thermal comfort

We invite the submission of both theoretical and practical articles to this Special Issue. Papers selected for this Special Issue will be subject to a rigorous peer review procedure with the aim of rapid and wide dissemination of research results and applications.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The journal Architecture is an outstanding platform for new ideas and for reporting the outcomes of your research. The subjects sought are wide ranging and include design strategies, form, and technology. The need to be innovative in a rapidly changing profession and building environment make this journal the ideal place to publish. We are open to creativity and out-of-the-box thinking.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.
