Message from the Guest Editor

Advancements in molecular imaging have led to the emergence of the novel theranostic nanoparticles, which may carry both therapeutic and imaging properties. The field can expect significant advances in discovery, innovative technology and clinical translation over the next decade as we continue to strengthen the potential of nanotechnology for the treatment of vascular diseases. This Special Issue aims to include review and research articles that provide a comprehensive overview of the most recent attempts in the targeted delivery of nanoparticles in blood vessels and engineering of safer and more effective nanomedicines for clinical translation

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biomedicines (ISSN 2227-9059) is an open access journal devoted to all aspects of research on human health and disease, the discovery and characterization of new therapeutic targets, therapeutic strategies, and research of naturally driven biomedicines, pharmaceuticals, and biopharmaceutical products. Topics include pathogenesis mechanisms of diseases, translational medical research, biomaterial in biomedical research, natural bioactive molecules, biologics, vaccines, gene therapies, cell-based therapies, targeted specific antibodies, recombinant therapeutic proteins, nanobiotechnology driven products, targeted therapy, bioimaging, biosensors, biomarkers, and biosimilars. The journal is open for publication of studies conducted at the basic science and preclinical research levels. We invite you to consider submitting your work to Biomedicines, be it original research, review articles, or developing Special Issues of current key topics.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Pharmacology and Pharmacy) / CiteScore - Q2 (Medicine (miscellaneous))
