Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to provide a comprehensive overview of the latest advancements in the field, encompassing a broad spectrum of topics ranging from molecular mechanisms to clinical implications. We warmly invite authors to submit original research articles, reviews, and prospective articles that shed light on important aspects of obesity-associated breast cancer, such as the epidemiology of obesity and breast cancer risk, molecular pathways in obesity leading to the initiation and progression of breast cancer, the impact of obesity on the breast tumor microenvironment and immune responses, and novel therapeutic strategies targeting obesity-associated pathways in breast cancer and treatment resistance.

Message from the Editorial Board

Cells has become a solid international scientific journal that is now indexed on SCIE and in other databases. We have successfully introduced a special issues format so that these issues serve as mini-forums in specific areas of cell science. Cells encourages researchers to suggest new special issues, serve as special issues editors, and volunteer to be reviewers. Our main focus will remain on cell anatomy and physiology, the structure and function of organelles, cell adhesion and motility, and the regulation of intracellular signaling, growth, differentiation, and aging. We are open to both original research papers and reviews.
