Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

The skin structure is complex, with the integration of various components. Mutation in one of these components can interrupt the whole organization, leading to various cutaneous abnormalities. In recent years, the genetic basis of many skin diseases has been elucidated using various genetic techniques. In this context, the editors of Cells have set up a Special Issue dedicated to the genetics of skin and the role of its changes in various cutaneous disorders.

Message from the Editorial Board

Cells has become a solid international scientific journal that is now indexed on SCIE and in other databases. We have successfully introduced a special issues format so that these issues serve as mini-forums in specific areas of cell science. Cells encourages researchers to suggest new special issues, serve as special issues editors, and volunteer to be reviewers. Our main focus will remain on cell anatomy and physiology, the structure and function of organelles, cell adhesion and motility, and the regulation of intracellular signaling, growth, differentiation, and aging. We are open to both original research papers and reviews.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges \(APC\) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE \(Web of Science\), PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Cell Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Biochemistry, Genetics and Molecular Biology)
