Advances in Chemosensors Technologies for Monitoring and Diagnostics

Message from the Guest Editors

Disease diagnosis is currently considered one of the most important aspects of healthcare management. Current advancements in diagnostic technology have enabled easy-to-use point of care biomedical devices. Wearables, Internet of Things (IoT) platforms constitute an emerging field of chemosensory application. This Special Issue aims to serve larger perspectives for the advancement of chemosensor application in monitoring and diagnosis. Recent advancements include newer materials and newer technologies for chemosensor application. Monitoring and diagnosis application includes industrial application, environmental management, healthcare monitoring, et al. Keywords

- chemosensor
- environmental monitor
- health care management
- industrial application
- disease diagnosis

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Chemosensors continues to grow as a forum for all manners of sensing that encompass chemistry. Chemosensors is published in open access format – all articles and content are released on the internet immediately following acceptance, thus allowing unlimited access to the content as soon as it is published. We would be happy to have you join our growing list of authors.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), CAPus / SciFinder, Inspec, Engineering Village and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q2 (Instruments and Instrumentation) / CiteScore - Q1 (Physical and Theoretical Chemistry)

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 19.1 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 2.6 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the second half of 2025).
