Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Globally, tobacco use is one of the leading causes of premature mortality, especially low- and middle-income countries. Asia is an important area endangered by smoking. Secondhand smoke (SHS) exposure is an important public health problem resulting from smoking, and children are a vulnerable population who are at high risk for tobacco-related health inequities in tobacco epidemic societies.

Approaches to address this problem need to be based on high-quality scientific research to understand root causes and determine effective approaches to reduce tobacco-related diseases. This Special Issue of Children will serve as a collection and dissemination platform for discussion Tobacco Control. Both reviews and original research publications will be considered for publication.

I look forward to receiving your contributions.
