Message from the Guest Editors

Due to the many advances in recent years, we are dedicating the first Special Issue of the Crystals section to the topic “Liquid Crystals in China”. The Special Issue will explore techniques and challenges for liquid crystal physics, liquid crystal optics, liquid crystal chemistry, liquid crystal photonics, liquid crystal materials and devices, photo-aligning techniques for liquid crystals, 3D display, as well as flexible liquid crystal displays. It is intended that both extant and novel methods will be covered, ranging from traditional techniques to methods involving non-traditional technologies. The goal is to facilitate the dissemination of information on methods and outcomes that will benefit the broader community involved in the control of liquid crystals.

Welcome to Crystals, the journal dedicated to the fascinating world of crystallographic research! Crystals are more than mere decorative elements; they hold the key to understanding the fundamental structure of matter. Our mission is to explore the crucial significance of this research across various fields. From medicine to technology, chemistry to geology, crystals play a vital role. Their structure provides insights into new advanced materials, innovative drugs, and groundbreaking technologies. Through Crystals, we delve into the microscopic world to discover solutions that will shape the future. Join us on a journey through the Crystals, where science merges with beauty and innovation.
