Message from the Guest Editors

Nanostructuring (the fabrication of materials with nanometer-size grains or with nanometer-scale structures) has become a very important branch of modern materials science. The development of systems made of units with nanometric proportions has been essential to attaining new properties that differ from those of bulk materials.

This Special Issue on Nanostructured Crystalline Materials is focused on current trends in modern material science and nanotechnology for the fabrication of crystalline materials. We invite the submission of original research articles on any topic related to the synthesis, characterization, or application of nanostructured crystalline materials.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Welcome to Crystals, the journal dedicated to the fascinating world of crystallographic research! Crystals are more than mere decorative elements; they hold the key to understanding the fundamental structure of matter. Our mission is to explore the crucial significance of this research across various fields. From medicine to technology, chemistry to geology, crystals play a vital role. Their structure provides insights into new advanced materials, innovative drugs, and groundbreaking technologies. Through Crystals, we delve into the microscopic world to discover solutions that will shape the future. Join us on a journey through the Crystals, where science merges with beauty and innovation.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges \(APC\) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE \(Web of Science\), Inspec, Ei Compendex, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Crystallography) / CiteScore - Q2 (Condensed Matter Physics)
