

Special Issue

Freshwater Mollusk Conservation

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue will provide an outlet for highlighting new research and advances in mollusk conservation, with an eye toward protecting and preserving freshwater environments. Submissions dealing with all aspects of freshwater mollusk conservation at any scale are invited. Of special interest are manuscripts that combine morphological and molecular approaches to place imperiled species in modern systematic and taxonomic frameworks; fill data gaps regarding species' life history, diversity, and distribution in under-sampled geographical areas; and improve communications between researchers and those charged with undertaking conservation efforts.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Diversity (ISSN 1424-2818) is a scholarly journal that covers all areas of diversity research. Our distinguished editorial board and refereeing process ensures the highest degree of scientific rigor for publishing. Original research articles and timely reviews are released online, with unlimited free access.

We invite papers and reviews on multidisciplinary topics of diversity that bridge organismic diversity (systematics, biodiversity, phylogeny, population genetics, and evolution) and molecular diversity (phytochemistry and biophysics).
