Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

COVID-19 has been classified as a pandemic since March 2020, causing countries to quarantine their citizens and schools and businesses to close. The impact of this has been felt economically, academically, and psychologically. This monograph includes articles focusing on the different of effects of COVID-19 at different times. In particular, has the impact of COVID-19 changed since the start of the pandemic in March 2020? Among the topics that are of interest are:

- What are the educational and educationally related impacts of COVID-19 at different points in the pandemic?
- What are the educationally related impacts of COVID-19 on students of different ages and/or different grade levels?
- What are the social/emotional effects of COVID-19 on different demographic groups of people and/or at different points in the pandemic?
