Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

This collection of scholarship will highlight the exciting innovations and trends currently permeating higher education classrooms. Many of the issues presented may be issues from the past resurfacing as the pendulum swings, as it so often does in education. Other pieces will highlight new trends that will provoke readers to think beyond the traditional classroom walls and contemplate their own instructional practices. As educators, the learning journey never ends and this is what drives us all to seek knowledge alongside our students.
