

Special Issue

Postsecondary and Tertiary Peer Assisted Learning

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue seeks to address the needs of postsecondary/tertiary students through a learning environment that enhances their academic achievement, engagement, learning mastery, and persistence to graduation. PAL can accomplish these purposes if specific guidelines and best practices are followed. Education Sciences prioritizes submissions that synthesize information from disparate backgrounds, place research findings within a broad context, extend our methodological and theoretical understanding, and inform education policy and practice. The journal publishes quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-method research papers. Extended reviews of substantive research are also welcome. Additionally, Education Sciences invites commentaries and original opinion pieces and/or analyses of issues and events of concern to education scholars that have international resonance. Topics of interest include: best practices of PAL; new models of PAL; personal and professional development by the student participants and leaders of the PAL groups; antiracism policies and practices for PAL groups; online PAL models; use of technology and social media.
