Message from the Guest Editor

Artificial intelligence (AI) is reshaping the global scenario and redefining the development of cutting-edge technologies, applications, policies, and service demands. For a decade, AI has been applied in every field, including natural language processing, computer vision, industry, robotics, ubiquitous data analytics, cloud computing, the Internet of Things, security, medical image analysis, etc. AI-driven technology will likely continue to improve efficiency and productivity and expand into more industries over time.

This Special Issue will delve into mutually dependent subfields including, but not limited to, machine learning, computer vision, natural language processing, deep learning, wireless sensor networks, blockchain technology, cryptography, big data, social networks, the Internet of Things, image processing, etc. Accepted papers will build a comprehensive collection of research and development trends on contemporary “Artificial Intelligence Technologies and Applications” that will serve as a convenient reference for AI experts and newly arrived practitioners, introducing them to the field’s trends.
