Message from the Guest Editors

Today's society is conditioned by the constant influence of technology. This situation has a direct impact on the field of education. At present, a large number of electronic resources are being used in learning environments, fostering students' learning. In this sense, technology provides numerous benefits for training activities. Studies reveal that resources such as robotics, STEM projects, and any other technology lead to various improvements in the process of building knowledge by students. With this Special Issue we encourage the scientific community to submit research or review papers related to new ways of teaching and learning through technology and electronics.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Electronics is a multidisciplinary journal designed to appeal to a diverse audience of research scientists, practitioners, and developers in academia and industry. The journal is devoted to fast publication of latest technological breakthroughs, cutting-edge developments, and timely reviews of current and emerging technologies related to the broad field of electronics. Experimental and theoretical results are published as regular peer-reviewed articles or as articles within Special Issues guest-edited by leading experts in selected topics of interest.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), CAPlus / SciFinder, Inspec, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Electrical and Electronic Engineering) CiteScore - Q2 (Electrical and Electronic Engineering)
