Message from the Guest Editors

In recent years, the rapid growth of storage technologies in combination with other factors, such as the development of mobile networks, the digital transformation of the society, and the emergence of new technologies, has enabled the generation of huge volume of data. This has led to information explosion. In the pursuit of finding patterns, machine learning techniques have shown to be of great utility. However, in this context, such techniques have to be adapted to handle a huge data volume.

This Special issue focuses on the design, adaptation, and implementation of machine learning techniques to the Big Data context for solving real-life problems, such as finance, health care, astrophysics, physics, geoscience, e-commerce, chemistry, life sciences, education, etc.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Electronics is a multidisciplinary journal designed to appeal to a diverse audience of research scientists, practitioners, and developers in academia and industry. The journal is devoted to fast publication of latest technological breakthroughs, cutting-edge developments, and timely reviews of current and emerging technologies related to the broad field of electronics. Experimental and theoretical results are published as regular peer-reviewed articles or as articles within Special Issues guest-edited by leading experts in selected topics of interest.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), CAPlus / SciFinder, Inspec, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Physics, Applied) / CiteScore - Q2 (Control and Systems Engineering)
