

Special Issue

The Effects of the COVID-19 Pandemic on the Digital Competence of Educators

Message from the Guest Editors

This disruption has caused an unprecedented acceleration to the digitalization of teaching and learning. Teaching professionals have been forced to develop their digital competence in a short amount of time, achieving mastery in the management of information, the creation of audiovisual content, and the use of technology to keep their students connected. This Special Issue welcomes contributions regarding the adoption of distance learning strategies, experiences, or lessons learned in this domain.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Electronics is a multidisciplinary journal designed to appeal to a diverse audience of research scientists, practitioners, and developers in academia and industry. The journal is devoted to fast publication of latest technological breakthroughs, cutting-edge developments, and timely reviews of current and emerging technologies related to the broad field of electronics. Experimental and theoretical results are published as regular peer-reviewed articles or as articles within Special Issues guest-edited by leading experts in selected topics of interest.
