Network analysis has reached, in various fields of knowledge, the level of consolidated category of research and application tools, opening the way to new perspectives strictly linked to the evolution of ICT and of the structures of human activities.

The purpose of this Special Issue is to collect the most advanced contributions on this topic, producing the state of the art on research and experimental results of network analysis useful to researchers and professionals working in this field.

Keywords:

- Network analysis
- Network design
- Network Planning
- Multipurpose networks

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, RePEc, Inspec, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: CiteScore - Q1 (Control and Optimization)
