Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

The COVID-19 pandemic has led to a significant reduction in manufacturing production and provision of services around the world, in particular travel and tourism. As a result, energy demand has dropped globally, affecting the price of energy. This has in turn influenced the profitability of investment in renewables, curbing investments and threatening the expansion of clean energy technologies and their shares of the energy mix. This Special Issue welcomes the submission of high-quality papers presenting empirical evidence on the effects of COVID-19 on the energy market, in particular trends in energy use efficiency and development of renewable clean energy technologies.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Energies is an international, open access journal in energy engineering and research. The journal publishes original papers, review articles, technical notes, and letters. Authors are encouraged to submit manuscripts which bridge the gaps between research, development and implementation. The journal provides a forum for information on research, innovation, and demonstration in the areas of energy conversion and conservation, the optimal use of energy resources, optimization of energy processes, mitigation of environmental pollutants, and sustainable energy systems.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, RePEc, Inspec, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: CiteScore - Q1 (Control and Optimization)
