Message from the Guest Editors

We would like to invite all potential authors to publish the results of their research and development work in a Special Issue of the Energies entitled “DC-DC Converters Technologies, Applications and Optimization”. The application of DC-DC converters is very current issue, especially in terms of their use in such important social areas as automotive technology and alternative energy sources. Both areas contain a number of issues that need continuous innovation in order to improve the parameters of the mentioned converters.

Deadline for manuscript submissions:

closed (30 November 2022)
