

Special Issue

Environmental Security: Climate Change and Prospects for Sustainable Development Goals

Message from the Guest Editor

Global warming is regarded as the greatest threat facing the mankind. Subsequent climate change and the associated environmental challenges are having wide ranging ramifications for societies across the world especially in the developing countries. This special issue aims to cover the broader dimensions of environmental security in the wake of global warming and climate change, and the role of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) in tackling the associated challenges. Papers on these topics can have a diverse scope i.e., scientific advancements and technology innovation, policy development and implementation, and case studies.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Environmental issues are quickly becoming central political, economic and academic topics of the twenty-first century. A large number of modern challenges are directly or indirectly caused by complex interactions between environmental issues. Such issues require interdisciplinary research, knowledge and insights to understand and, ultimately, for solutions to be found. Through the journal Environments, we strive to create a platform for meaningful discourse by accepting contributions from a wide range of fields. We sincerely hope you will consider publishing your distinguished work in this highly-accessible, peer-reviewed journal.
