

Special Issue

Exploring Identity, Belonging, and Transnationalism among Migrants in Europe

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue critically examines the concept of 'migrant' which has become a central political figure of our time. The juxtaposition of 'migranhood' to 'nativeness' reinforces the belief in stable national communities threatened by migrants (Anderson, 2019). The distinction between 'migrant' and 'citizen' is fundamental to the creation and governance of nation-states and their borders (Dahinden and Anderson, 2021). We encourage submissions that critically engage with the term 'migrant' and explore how immigration, race, nationality, gender, religion, ethnicity and class intersect, reinforce and contest each other, complicating binaries such as migrant/citizen and foreign/native.

About the Journal

Message from the Editorial Board

Genealogy is a scholarly journal that provides a venue for academic, cutting-edge contributions to the interdisciplinary field of genealogy studies. We welcome contributions that examine genealogies of family lineage, use genealogical considerations and methods in examining other historical processes (including migration histories, personal, social, and national identities, and social institutions) or study the construction of genealogical narratives. The journal is also interested in biographical studies and their contribution to the understanding of broader social and historical phenomena.
