Message from the Guest Editor

The overall goal of this Special Issue of Geosciences is to identify, characterize and evaluate the potential and the opportunities of volcanic geomorphology, geoheritage, geoparks and geotourism for the societies living around the volcanic areas. The benefits of the volcanic landscapes include different current, methods and techniques and research interests: volcanic geomorphology, geomorphosites/geosites, geoheritage, geoparks and geotourism in natural or urban spaces.

Specifically, this Special Issue aims to provide an outlet a rapid, widely accessible publication of peer-reviewed studies about the benefits of volcanoes for society. This special issue aims to cover, without being limited to, the following areas: Volcanic geomorphology; Volcanic geoheritage; Volcanic geoparks; Volcano tourism.

This Special Issue welcomes contributions in all the previous topics as well as innovative approaches and best practices.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Understanding the Earth's origin and its bio-geological evolution, the multiple implications of the geosciences (as a coherent set of interconnected disciplines), and the sociocultural and ethical interdisciplinary approaches, will be crucial for a better understanding of Nature, and also for undertaking scientifically based political decisions.

We are committed to drive Geosciences to a position in which it is recognized for its high-quality, cutting-edge research and scientific influence, and strongly encourage and invite your participation and manuscripts.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, ESCI (Web of Science), GeoRef, Astrophysics Data System, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Geosciences, Multidisciplinary) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Earth and Planetary Sciences)
